MENU PLANNING PROJECT

This final project is to be put together in a “booklet” format. You may use a folder or staple it together. It should be word processed; however, if you do not have computer access, it must be printed in black ink. Your project must include the following:

1. Cover/Title Page: The title page should include the name of your project event, your name, the name of the course, and the date. Decorate your cover to fit the theme of your project.
2. Description of Event: In written paragraph format, describe an event, occasion, or theme that you would entertain, prepare and serve food to a minimum of four people or to a maximum of 100 people. You are to plan the menu (minimum of five recipes) to carry out your event. Describe your menu, who you are inviting, the number invited, and any “special touches” that you would utilize in order to make your meal and event appealing and attractive. Examples of this would be garnishes, table setting, decorations, food presentation, mood, music, etc. . . . This written description should be one page in length, double spaced.
3. Invitation: Create an example of what the invitation would look like for your event. Create this using supplies furnished in class or out of supplies of your choice. It can be computer generated. Purchased invitations are not acceptable for this project. Be sure to include information guests will need to know (time, date, etc.).
4. Menu: List the menu in proper menu format. When selecting your menu choose recipes that would be compatible to each other as well as to the event that you are planning.
5. Recipes: Make sure that each recipe yield is for the number of people you plan on serving. Each recipe should be labeled with its title, ingredients and amounts needed, and directions for preparation. Remember you must have a minimum of five recipes. A beverage will count for this if it has a recipe. Remember that all recipes included must be appropriate for a school project—no alcohol!
6. Market Order: Complete a market order (form provided for you in class) for all ingredients needed to complete the event. List all exact measurements as dictated by recipes. Combine ingredient amounts as needed.

7. Safety and Sanitation Guidelines: List 10 safety and sanitation guidelines to follow for the preparation of the menu for your party. Consider time, cleanliness, kitchen sanitation and safety, food temperature, etc. Be sure they are specific to YOUR party menu!
 8. Equipment: List all kitchen equipment needed for food preparation. List each recipe and the equipment needed for preparation.
 9. Timetable: Create a timetable for preparation. List times sequentially and tasks performed.
 10. Outside Evaluation: Have someone (not in our class) read and evaluate your project. Have him/her write a short paragraph describing his/her opinion of your menu and event planned. Have him/her give specific suggestions that support your plan and/or ideas for improvement. Have him/her sign and date the evaluation.
